

Press Contact:
Margaret Little
(205) 792-7532
margaretlittle@seacoast.org

For Immediate Release
September 8, 2017

Statement from Seacoast Church on campus closures and relief efforts

As we monitor Hurricane Irma's forecasted track, Seacoast Church has decided to cancel weekend services at the following campuses:

CLOSED

James Island
Johns Island
McClellanville

LIMITED SERVICES

Mount Pleasant – 10:00AM, 11:30AM
North Charleston – 10:00AM
Summerville – 10:00AM, 11:30AM
West Ashley – 10:00AM

REGULAR SERVICES

Asheville
Columbia
Greenville
Irmo
Manning

We will continue to monitor the storm and are advising everyone to follow all instructions and evacuation orders from South Carolina state officials. Real-time updates for our campuses can be found at seacoast.org/irma.

We will be offering services online at live.seacoast.org. Online service times this weekend are:

Saturday, September 9 at 6:15PM
Sunday, September 10 at 8:30AM
Sunday, September 10 at 10:00AM
Sunday, September 10 at 11:30AM
Sunday, September 10 at 6:15PM

“Our biggest preparations so far are to make sure that once the storm has moved on, our staff and our volunteers can get back as quickly as possible to continue to love and serve every city, town, and community we are a part of. We are going to be here for our people, and to help as many people as we can.”- Seacoast Lead Pastor Josh Surratt

“With the projected path of Irma turning further west, this gives us an opportunity to shift our focus toward relief efforts. Through our church planting organization, the Association of Related Churches, we are already in communication with more than 60 churches in the path of Hurricane Irma. We plan to assist with relief efforts in impacted regions across the Southeast to help with recovery and rebuilding. For more information on Seacoast disaster relief efforts, please visit seacoast.org/irma.”- Seacoast Lead Pastor Josh Surratt

For any additional questions or to request an interview, please contact Margaret Little at margaretlittle@seacoast.org.

SEACOAST.ORG